
NOT ALL THE RURAL atmosphere with its related activities has disappeared from this area, we are happy to report.

In the very heart of town recently, we have witnessed a sort of carry-over operation from the "good old days" which brought back bucolic memories.

We are referring to the picking of mustard greens.

For the uneducated, mustard greens are considered a gastronomical delicacy in some circles, especially among those, we might add, that are also fond of spinach.

Many of the vacant lots in town are covered with a profuse growth of mustard plants and now apparently is harvest time.

We don't claim to be any expert on any kind of green stuff, either the kind that grows or the kind that banks issue, but we have personal friends who almost drool when they talk about how delicious mustard greens really are.

To the best of our knowledge we have never tasted that particular tidbit and somehow we can't seem to get excited enough to give it a whirl.

But we thought it was quite incongruous in this highly urbanized area to see people busily harvesting away in the middle of town.

In fact a number of people were picking right next door to The Press office and the crop on the former Gomes Ranch attracted a number of old-timers.

In no way are we running down this gourmet dish.

If things get real bad, many of us might be thankful that there are such things as mustard greens growing wild in town.

That could be another reason for the cities to keep a wary eye on the fast-diminishing open space that is within their boundaries.

Obviously, without open space there can't be mustard greens.

NEW SIDING HAS BEEN put on the west wall on the old Nelson Bros. hardware building.

And it's colored red.

What else is new?

But that's not what we had started out to say.

You see, we old-timers (15 years in the community more or less) remember when the aforesaid building was a hardware store.

But for five years after Milt and Clarence Nelson closed out their hardware store, the structure was leased by the Campbell Union High School District for a business office.

When the high school district moved its facilities to the new spot on Union Ave., the building was leased to Campbell Office Machines.

It still looks like a barn.

Sort of.

So, what's wrong with that? We like barns.

And really nobody has attempted to change its appearance.

However, to bring you up to date, it has been conceded that there is no way to bring the building "up to code" without more or less starting from the bottom up.

The city, however, has granted the owners, the Nelson brothers, temporary use of the building so that they have been able to lease it out until, more or less, the civic center complex some years hence is developed.

Then it can be determined what should be done about it.

But that is sort of beside the point we were making on the new red siding.

The red siding has been added to improve the appearance of the building during its "temporary use".

You get the idea, don't you?

If it is supposed to be a barn, make it look like an

City gets park grant of $40,500

U.S. Representative Charles Gubser (R-Gilroy), of the 10th congressional district which includes Campbell, notified The Campbell Press and the City this week that an allocation of an open space land grant of $40,500 had been awarded the City of Campbell.

The grant, which has been approved by the Department of Housing and Urban Affairs (HUD), will enable the City of Campbell to acquire and improve a 1.23 acre parcel now owned by the County and adjacent to the city-owned Rincon Park.

The parcel is excess land from the purchase of the right-of-way for the San Tomas Expressway. It is adjacent to the expressway and is located at the south east corner of Rincon Park at the pedestrian overpass (photo above).

According to the stipulations of the grant, the money is to be used to acquire the property and develop landscaping, install lighting and improve the parcel as a city-wide recreational park service.

The City of Campbell had applied for the open space land grant after the county acreage had become available.

City officials, originally, had hoped to receive a much larger grant that could be used in the overall development of Rincon Park.

However, federal officials ruled that Campbell's successful park bond issue in June, 1969 was for the specific purpose of acquiring additional park land which ruled out federal financial aid for that purpose.

The next step that will be taken, according to city officials, once the money is in the city treasury, will be to get the county to put a price tag on the 1.23 acres. The only practical use of the excess land, it has been pointed out, is for a park development.

Council favors aiding industrial street project with bond money

City participation (on a 50% basis) in the cost of improving (Dell and Division) two streets in industrial park received the blessing of a majority of the City Council Monday night.

By a 3-1 vote (Councilman Ralph Doetsch abstaining and Councilman Ed Rogers dissenting), the Council gave tacit approval to the proposal made in a letter from property owners in the area.

An improvement district would be formed in which the city would foot half the cost from street bond funds and the property owners picking up the tab for half. It was estimated that the total cost would exceed $200,000. Under all previous city street projects, the city has underwritten two-thirds the cost.

Tom Snowden, of SnowdenPencer Corp. at 1587 Dell Ave., and a director of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce, as spokesman for the property owners, pointed out the need for street improvements, if the prime industrial area was to be developed properly.

Lowell Grattan, of the CofC industrial committee, supported Snowden's request Councilman Bill Podgorsek and Bill Smeed indicated their approval. (Doetsch as a property owner in the area, did not participate in discussion or voting).

Councilman Rogers maintained that the city policy, as far as the street bond money was concerned, was to give preference to residential streets and that there were many such streets still to be improved.

He emphasized that the industrial landowners were in a better position to finance the improvements than many of those who lived on the sub-standard streets.

Snowden argued in rebuttal that "preference" apparently had been given to residential streets in all previous projects.

Smeed added that "preference" did not mean exclusion, and then moved that the city staff be instructed to proceed on the basis of the request.

In another street improvement matter, the Council gave approval to staff to proceed with the formation of a local improvement district on Virginia Ave. between Campbell Ave. and Bucknall. (More than enough residents on the street had requested the street project which also will be financed from street bond money on the established basis of the city paying two-thirds of the cost.

ON MARCH 1

Former Cupertino mayor to be new city attorney

J. Robert Dempster, 38, of Cupertino, a former mayor of that city, will become Campbell's city attorney on March 1 replacing Joseph A. Bonacina who has served as this city's only legal counsel from the time of incorporation in 1952.

Bonacina will be honored for his loyal service to the city at a community dinner at Villa Felice on Friday, Feb. 19.

The selection of Dempster as city attorney climaxed months of screening and interviewing applicants by the City Council assisted by a panel composed of active city attorneys and Bonacina.

Dempster was one of the three attorneys who made the "finals" last Saturday and he received top score in the secret ballot that rated the finalists on a 1-2-3 basis.

ROBERT DEMPSTER
--new City Attorney

Dempster, the new city attorney graduated from high school in Chicago and received a B.S. in business administration from the University of Montana in 1954 and his law degree from Denver University in 1959. He served in the U.S. Marine Corps from 1954 to 1962 on active and reserve duty, leaving the service with the rank of captain.

He began his law practice in Cupertino in 1961 and has maintained his law office in that city continuously since then.

He has a long record of public service in Cupertino, serving eight years (1962-1969) as councilman and twice as mayor. He was a charter member and president of the Cupertino JayCees and in 1965 was selected as an "outstanding young man of America" by the U.S. JayCees.

He is a member of the Cupertino Rotary Club and Chamber of Commerce.

He and wife, Mary Louise, have two children, Scott, 12, and Julie, 9. They reside at 10284 Creston Drive, Cupertino. His law office is located at 20325 Stevens Creek Blvd.

FOR SPECIAL TREATMENT

Community rallies to send cancer stricken Campbell youth to London

BY SALLY HOWE

Last week a young Campbell High School graduate made a trip to London, England, for treatment on the cancer of his spine.

Roger Garcia, 18, has been an inspiration to his friends and neighbors for the past several years.

When he was 15, the young blond student learned that a bruise on his leg was malignant and that his leg must be amputated.

Undaunted, he returned to school, participated in sports (wrestling) and got back into school activities. Shortly after, malignancy developed in his lungs and another surgery was scheduled.

With two major surgeries behind him, it isn't surprising that his fellow students gave him a standing ovation when he went forward to receive his diploma at last June's graduation exercises.

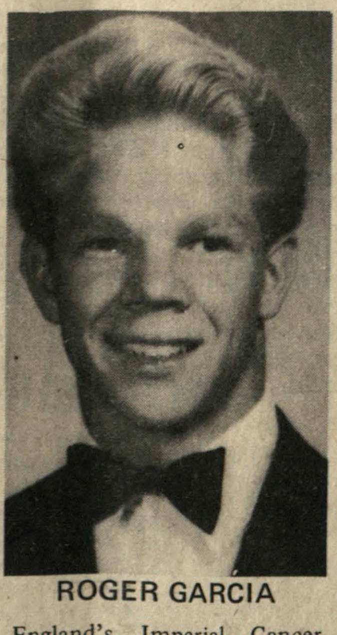
Since that time, Roger has spent much time speaking to youth and church groups and has taught a third grade Sunday School at Bethel Church in Cupertino.

His parents, Bob and Helen Garcia, 371 Milton, and his brothers and sisters, Mark, serving in the Navy at Pearl Harbor, Marcia Markwalder of Pasadena and Lynn, a freshman at Campbell High School, have been understandingly proud of his spirit.

More recently, the cancer struck again.

Linear accelerator and x-ray treatments have been used, but medical reports are that chance of arresting the cancer of the spine are slim.

Then the Garcia family read in a national magazine about a synthetic drug developed by scientist Dr. Kurt Hellman in England. They read further reports about a young man in Topeka, Kansas, who has been treated by Dr. I. W. F. Hanhan at Westminster Hospital in London, using the drugs developed by



ROGER GARCIA

England's Imperial Cancer Research Fund, under Dr. Hellman's direction.

Not about to leave a stone unturned, the Garcia family called Dr. Hanhan and made

CAMPBELL SCHOOL DISTRICT

Dr. Robert L. King runs for trustee

Dr. Robert L. King, 43 year old veterinarian, this week announced his candidacy for the Campbell Union School District Board of Trustees in the April 20 election.

Dr. King, in announcing his candidacy, said, "I am well acquainted with the financial problems of the school district due to my extensive research and study as a member of the Citizens' Advisory Finance Committee.

"I firmly resolve to work toward the solution of problems so that the Board can be an effective governing board once again.

"I want to work to provide the best possible education for Campbell Union School District children with the monies available.

"This can be accomplished if the Board of Trustees institutes reforms which eliminate inefficiencies and ineptness. I will propose modern business techniques to obtain the maximum value for each tax dollar spent."

Dr. King attended Stanford University and Washington State University. He holds degrees in Biological Sciences and Zoology, and a Doctor of Veterinary Medicine. He is a partner in the Santa Clara Animal Hospital in Santa Clara and the Animal Medical Center in Campbell.

Dr. King is past president of both the Bay Counties and Santa Clara Valley Veterinary Medical Associations. He is past president of his Kiwanis Club. He served as a member of the Campbell Union School District Citizens' Advisory Finance Committee. He headed two sub-committees of that group.

ROBERT L. KING

He also served as a leader in solving student transportation and safety problems in the Campbell Union School District.

Dr. King and his wife, Carol, reside at 15232 Stratford Court, Monte Sereno and have three children; Candace, Roger, and Bradley. Both Dr. and Mrs. King are members of the PTA. Mrs. King has been active both as a library chairman and a library mother.

School boy remembers debt from childhood

The letter is addressed: "Office of the Principal, Campbell Union Grammar School, Campbell, California."

The postmark is Seattle, Washington.

The signature is D. J. Bennett.

The letter was brought to our attention by Jim D'Avis, acting superintendent of Campbell Union (elementary) School District.

A portion of it reads: "Some forty years ago I was a student at the Campbell Union Grammar School, and at that time I checked a book out of the school library—or class library.

"Somehow I forgot to return it, and for some reason was not reminded to do so. Time went by, and I was afraid to return it, because I had it so long; To make a long story short, I never did return it.

"I recalled this circumstance recently, and since I believe that even seemingly unimportant or even unintentional dishonesty's should be remedied, if possible, I am enclosing my check in the amount of $5, which I suppose might be the value of such a book on today's market. Use the money however you see fit."

A check was enclosed and the name on the check is Dennis J. Bennett, who old timers tell us is the son of the late Dr. Joseph Bennett, for many years minister of Campbell Congregational Church. If our information is correct, Dennis is also a minister.

D'Avis says the money will be put in the district's library fund, to purchase a book for the present Campbell Elementary School's library.

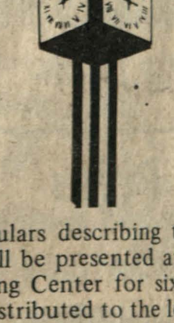
Auditors' delay concerns board

Concern in the submission over the lateness of the auditor's report for last year, the Board of Trustees of the Campbell Union School District took action last week to improve the situation.

The board has been criticized for laxity in allowing the auditors, Cooper, Cooper & Collins, to deliver the report on January 14, when it was due on Oct. 31.

In an executive session, the trustees named a committee of Dr. Richard MacQuiddy and Jim Gilliland from the board and Jim D'Avis, acting superintendent, to draw up new specifications for the letting of the auditor's contract.

In the same executive session the board granted Neal Royer, acting principal of Forest Hill School who was demoted as district superintendent by a 3-2 vote of the board last October, a leave of absence from February 16 to April 30. Royer will use some of his accrued vacation time for his leave.



Ticking ahead with the clock tower

Circulars describing the "package" of "clock tower" matinees that will be presented at the Plaza Theaters in the Campbell Plaza Shopping Center for six successive Saturdays, beginning Feb. 20, were distributed to the local grade schools this week.

The "package" of shows sells for $3. Funds raised from the movies will go into the "clock tower fund" and will be used to construct the tower at the city hall.

The attractive tower was part of the original plans for Campbell's new city hall but was eliminated in the interest of economy by the City Council.

The Chamber of Commerce undertook the job of raising $5000 that is needed to construct the tower with the blessing of the City Council.

Mrs. Lilyan Brannon, who is coordinating the ticket sales in the schools, said that each school in the immediate area has been allotted 50 tickets which will be sold on a first come first served basis.

She emphasized that, if any tickets remain unsold after this Thursday (Feb. 11), schools in the outer areas will be offered the opportunity to purchase tickets. Only 1500 tickets are available.

Editorial

Changes and progress

The Campbell Press plans to publish its fifth annual progress edition on Wednesday, February 24.

It is the desire of this newspaper to review and then project various developments in the community that have had and will have a definite bearing on the progress of this area.

Progress, of course, does not just mean what new buildings have been constructed.

But new construction, of course, very definitely must be considered visible evidence that a community is going forward.

And progress does not necessarily mean population growth, although an increase in population is also visible evidence of whether a community is standing still or not.

Obviously, in our progress edition, it will not be possible to emphasize some of the more intangible phases of what is implied by progress in a community.

We mean, for example, it would be difficult to portray specifically what "progress" has been made curturally or socially, for those are generally areas that involve such deep-rooted moral concepts among individuals that it would be difficult to pinpoint what progress, if any, has been made in those fields.

We would appreciate hearing from residents of the area where they think the greatest strides have been made in this community in recent years.

There is the danger, of course, that those people who have been intent on one objective will maintain that there has been no advancement in recent years.

For example, we know of a number of people who maintain that there has been nothing done in developing housing for senior citizens or low-income groups in the community.

They, therefore, will submit then that there has been no progress in the area.

Others will claim that the current hassle in the Campbell Union School District has had an adverse effect on any progress in the local educational field.

And there will be still others who will point to the current trend toward multiple-housing away from single-family dwellings and suggest that may be progress only in a negative way.

There will be some, too, who will argue with considerable merit that covering the fast-diminishing open space areas with buildings is far from what is meant by progress.

And, of course, there will be many who will suggest that very little, if any, progress in the community has been made in the ecological field on the local level.

What we are trying to say is that our progress edition that is slated for February 24, will not be able to "cover" in depth those particular areas of concern that we have mentioned which are of such vital importance to our environmental welfare.

We readily concede that our community, in many of those areas of concern, has not advanced as far as many would have desired it to.

Yet there have been developments, improvements and advancements in the community as a whole that should be recognized.

Keeping in mind, of course, that what means progress to some does not mean progress to others, The Campbell Press is hoping in its annual presentation, to present an overall picture of how the community has progressed and is progressing in a general way.

It will not be the intention of the edition to paint too glowing a picture of our community. On the other hand, we do not intend to be negative either.

We intend to present some of the changes that have taken place, showing, in some cases, a sort of before and after concept.

We would like to get your ideas on the subject as to whether you feel your community has progressed as far as you think it should have.

There have been some vast changes made.

But changes do not necessarily mean progress.

attractive barn.

FAR BE IT FROM US TO enter the discussion on the ways and means of improving the looks of a barn in the so-called downtown area.

We are a mite prejudiced.

As a product of a very small town, which separation from the rural area was more academic than geographical, we have that sort of thing about barns.

We like 'em.

They bring back fond memories of hay lofts, animals, special smells and stuff like that.

But to get back to the red siding that has just been added to the "barn" on Campbell Avenue.

We enjoyed the discussion at the City Council session when the approval was granted to dress up the building on a temporary basis after it had been conceded that trying to make it meet the current building standards was pretty hopeless.

Milt and Clarence Nelson were present at the particular meeting with a sample of the siding that was to be used on their building as a means to improve its looks for a five year period, when it will probably be demolished.

The councilmen were impressed by the cooperation of the Nelsons.

But Councilman Bill Smeed had a question.

Why, he wanted to know, did the siding have to be red?

Milt was on his feet with a ready answer. (Pun intended).

"Did you ever see a Swede who didn't want a red barn?" he asked.

There was no further discussion.

They all sided with the red siding.

-0-

LEFT-HANDED PERSONS are not too uncommon, we admit.

On the other hand, they are just enough off the norm (one out of seven) one might say, to be noticeable.

Especially, that is, at a closely-jammed dinner party and one's left-handed neighbor is continually sticking his elbow in your face.

As many of you know, Bob Stephens, Campbell's city manager is left-handed.

It should be noted, as a sort of editor's note, however, that Bob is a switch hitter, so to speak.

He bats either way and hits a golf ball a mile right-handed.

It is only when one is crammed tightly at a banquet that Bob's "affliction" becomes really apparent.

(We always try to see that he has the corner by himself.

-0-

NOT TOO LONG AGO, John Ruppel was employed as administrative assistant to Stephens at the city hall.

And John is doing a great job in relieving Bob of some of the multitude of chores that go with administrating a city such as Campbell.

Ruppel was hired after Carl Kuhn accepted the assistant city manager job in Pacifica. Bob screened many applicants for the position Carl had vacated before picking Ruppel.

John is well qualified for the job. He has a masters degree in city administration from Arizona and had served in the Tucson city hall plus he has had eight years in the Air Force.

According to Bob, Ruppel stood 'way above the others who had applied.

And the way John has dug in here, Bob has proved his point on that score.

But we have been looking over those application forms to see whether or not there was something in 'em that we didn't know about.

You see, our left-handed city manager selected a left-handed assistant this time around.

John also tells us that his wife is left-handed and so is his kid sister.

In this day and age in which minorities have taken on a new significance, we see no fault in recognizing the southpaw once in a while.

As a matter of fact, some of our best friends are left-handed.

We just thought it was interesting.

In a left-handed sort of way.

Two West Hamilton apartment complexes get Council approval

Two apartment complexes on adjacent areas on W. Hamilton Ave., received the approval of the City Council on Monday night, following lengthy public hearings in which residents in the immediate area questioned the need for more apartments in the community.

Both developments had received the prior approval of the Planning Commission when the same objections had been raised.

Both projects were approved by a 4-1 vote of the Council with Councilman Bill Podgorsek opposing in each case. Podgorsek maintained that there were too many apartments already in town or on the drawing boards. He said there were 1750 units pending in 14 projects.

Both areas are now zoned commercial. The developers had requested a zone change to P-D (planned development) and had submitted plans for the apartments with the zone change application.

Yolles Development Co. plans to construct 142 units between Darryl and Marathon Drives and M. H. Podell Co., plans a 116-unit complex on the north side of W. Hamilton, west of Marathon.

The Yolles project was subjected to the most criticism from the residents in the area.

One of the sticky points involved in the discussion was the location of the carports on the property line between the apartments and the single-family homes. The plan approved moves the carports three feet from the property line, leaves an existing six-foot high redwood fence and allows for landscaping the five-foot strip.

The Podell complex will be will be of a high quality construction, Mike Podell told the Council, and the rents will be among the highest in the city. Extension landscaping and open space areas have been planned, he added.

The Podell plans also included a Quik Stop Market on W. Hamilton and the market people had asked that gas pumps be allowed at the market. The Council, however, upheld the Planning Commission and deleted the gas pumps.

County election officer cancels 12,000 voters' registrations

About 12,000 voters who did not vote at last November's General Election will be receiving a duplicate, or second post card notice that their registration has been cancelled, according to a statement issued by Registrar of Voters George Mann.

He asked that voters disregard the second notice, which was mailed February 2. The first notices had been sent out on Dec. 31, 1970.

The problem arose because a computer, in its own mysterious way, printed only six out of every 20 notices for a group of 40,000 cancelled voters, Mann said.

However, now that the error has been found and corrected, the only practical way to notify the remaining 28,000 voters of their cancellation is to rerun the entire reel of computer tape containing all 40,000 names and addresses.

The notice, which is required by the State Elections Code, serves a dual purpose. It notifies the voter that his registration has been cancelled and also allows him to reinstate his affidavit without re-registering.

Mann explained that anyone who receives such a notice and who has not moved since he last registered merely has to complete and sign one part of the post card and mail it to the Registrar's office by March 1, and his name will be returned to the rolls.

Mann also said that because of the foul-up, the 28,000 voters who did not receive their cancellation notices in January will have until April 1 to return their requests for reinstatement.

Almost 99,000 voters in Santa Clara County were cancelled because they did not vote last November. So far about 15,000 voters have requested that their names be restored.

Planners to act on third screen

Request for site approval for the proposed third screen for the Winchester Drive-in Theater is on the Planning Commission agenda for next Tuesday night, February 16 (Monday is a holiday).

The request for the third screen is the climax to the complex problem affecting the development of a six-acre parcel adjacent to the present two screen operation, which included a referendum vote when the Council decision of approving the third screen was upheld by the electorate.

Cambrian votes Tuesday, Feb. 16

Voters in the Cambrian School District next Tuesday, February 16, will cast ballots on the question of whether the present tax rate of $3 per $100 assessed valuation should be continued for three years.

Leaders in the district, in asking for voters' approval, maintain that they are not seeking a tax increase but are only asking to hold the line on the current rate.

They maintain, however, that should the issue fail, the district will lose $783,523 in revenue which will mean that a 25% cut must be made in the teaching staff and bus transportation will be eliminated and there will be other drastic reductions in the educational program.

arrangements to take Roger to London.

More and more people in the community suddenly found they were concerned about Roger and made appeals to news media to help spread the word that funds were needed for the trip.

Their appeal is paying off.

A trust fund was set up at the Campbell branch of Bank of America. To date, contributions total about $3500.

A neighbor of Roger's for 18 years, Mrs. Virgil Gundy, has been much involved in the young man's problems.

Here is her accounting of the past week's activities.

Roger left San Francisco Airport Wednesday, Feb. 3. Reporters, photographers and television cameras were there. His departure was emotional, but not with sadness, but with optimistic happiness.

"Accompanying Roger were his mother, Mrs. Helena Garcia, his girl friend, Lia Congdon, also a 1970 graduate of Campbell High, and a family friend, Mrs. Ann Davis of Scotts Valley.

"A trust fund has been set up at Bank of America in Campbell, but contributions are and can be made at any Bank of America branch. The trust fund committee members are Peter Jensen, Joy Gundy, Dorothy Bois and Jim Grace. Mrs. Bois lost her daughter a little over a year ago to the same type of cancer which has stricken Roger, Osteogenic Sarcoma.

"I will never forget the day we found out that Roger had cancer of the right leg. My son Brian, Roger's closest friend, said 'Mom, of all the boys I know, only Roger could accept this. ....Roger will be fine. Roger will not die!'

"To this day, he believes this. Only people who know and love Roger as we do, know exactly what Brian's words mean.

Mrs. Barbara Jensen, wife of Peter Jensen and her family are all working to help Roger. Many students are working to raise funds, too.

"In the near future some fund raising projects to help Roger are planned. There will be a folk concert in the Oakland Auditorium, Friday, Feb. 19 at 8 p.m., featuring music composed by Ralph Carmichael.

"A variety show is planned at Campbell High School the weekend following. George Akina, Ellen Greenberg and Jeff Rish, formerly Campbell High Students, are working on this.

"Ken Hegstom, a personal friend of Roger's, is drawing posters for the Oakland concert.

"The latest news of Roger's health came to us by telephone Monday morning. His mother says that he is very ill now, but that this is to be expected after taking the drug. Concurrently they are giving linear accelerator treatment on his spine and laser beam on his lungs.

Saturday, when his father talked with the doctor on the phone, he reported the doctor said "Roger is the strongest individual I have seen to have had so much cancer in his body for so long. He has the greatest will to live."

Mrs. Gundy further reports that she will be happy to hear from anyone who wishes further information. Her number is 378-5502.

FROM THE CALIFORNIA HIGHWAY PATROL

Whenever an enforcement stop by a California Highway Patrol officer results in injury, death or extreme jeopardy for the officer, instructors at the CHP Academy in Sacramento study the case to make sure their lesson plans in the Enforcement Tactics class cover such a situation.

In the course of the past few years, several changes in training techniques have been made, with an increased emphasis on practical field exercises.

SIX-DAY WEEK

Cadets spend 16 weeks at the CHP Academy learning the skills needed for the job. Their six-day work weeks are busy ones, in which many hours are devoted to learning how to do the job safely. Driving, weaponry, physical control, and arrest techniques are all a part of the safety picture.

The emphasis in all Academy classes is on officer safety. The cadet receives 70 hours of weapons training in which he learns to use the revolver and shotgun under day and night conditions, and the techniques of defensive firing.

The physical training curriculum totals 82 hours. It includes physical conditioning, baton use, civil disturbances, control techniques, handcuffing, tear gas use and tactical riot formations.

Vehicle operations–learning to handle the high-powered patrol vehicle under varied conditions of speed and skid–is another element of the safety skill training.

The cornerstone of this discipline is the Enforcement Tactics course, which includes demonstrations of various types of situations that have actually occurred in the field. The classes are designed to encourage the officer to think ahead about what to do in a situation, to minimize the possibility of injury or death.

REALISM

Realism is the name of the game, and instruction is given during nighttime as well as daytime to emphasize the difference in enforcement tactics under these conditions.

The climax of the course is a field exercise in which teams of cadet officers work as a unit. They are divided into two groups of three men each with one group being assigned to a patrol vehicle and the other to a civilian automobile. One man in the patrol car is a silent observer, who writes down anything the other cadets do wrong.

All aspects of the techniques involved in an enforcement action are noted as each cadet gets to play each role in the patrol vehicle and civilian vehicle in the course of the evening's exercise. The student officers review the comments the next day using the group critique work shop method.

"The men's comments are very critical but constructive," says the class instructor, Sgt. Ron Von Rajcs.

"In the last couple of years, we have increased the practical training considerably because we want the men to learn to make plans and to follow plans. We tell the cadets the proper way to do things, but there's no way to be sure they completely understand until they do them."

Training in enforcement tactics doesn't end at the Academy; for the first 30 days a new officer is on his first field assignment he works on a one-to-one basis with a training officer.

When a cadet graduates from the CHP Academy he knows that most of his highway contacts will be with misdemeanor traffic violators, but that sooner or later his life may well depend upon his readiness when he is face to face, or gun to gun, with a desperate felon. Much of his training is directed to that moment.

HIGH RISKS

What are the chances of any one officer having a high-risk confrontation in any one work day? That's difficult to measure, but a look at the record of one Area gives a clue.

Los Banos Area is located in a rural portion of Merced County, is staffed by a comparatively small number of officers, but is bisected by a major highway. During one recent month it recorded five incidents–four traffic violation arrests and one accident investigation–that resulted in the apprehension of wanted felons. Each arrest was accomplished peacefully.

No CHP officer begins his work shift expecting to capture a wanted criminal, be involved in a gun battle, or risk his life in a high speed chase.

Man On the Street

with CARL WINTHER

We heard a singing commercial on radio the other day that was a musical masterpiece.

The tune was catchy, the kind you'd like to learn how to whistle. The voices had a harmony that was out of this world. The only thing was we couldn't figure out what they were saying about the product and we never could catch the product's name. But it was a beautiful little ditty.

THE NEW SNO-WHITE

With a name like "Sno-White", you'd expect to find an immaculate place. But not so, says Frank Bilak and his partner, Fannie Balezs.

They've just finished three months of hard labor putting the Sno-White Drive-In on Campbell Avenue in a condition to justify its name.

This week, Frank and Fannie said they're ready for business at the NEW Sno-White. Here are some of the things they did. Washed and repainted walls and ceilings, cleaned and replaced the floor tile throughout, built new formica tops for counters and serving tables, installed new steam tables and warming ovens, installed new sinks and a new freezer, put in a new $8,000 "slush" and ice cream milk shake machine, added a new Merchant's Club lunch room with fancy upholstered wrought iron chairs and tables to match.

All that is what Frank calls the "first phase" of their project. They next plan to enclose the patio area in the front into a dining room.

What will they serve? Hot and cold sandwiches, Pizza, Fish and Chips, Ice Cream and dairy specialties, all for eat in or take out.

Frank comes to Campbell from Woodland where he formerly operated Frank's Market and Delicatessen. Mrs. Balezs is a well known Los Gatos woman where she resided for the past 12 years.

IMPORT EXPO

Pat Sano operates the IMPORT EXPO in the Campbell Plaza Shopping Center. Pat Sano operates the Import EXPO, the Import EXPO, the Import EXPO even if we did try to give his place another name last week. (Don't go out and try to buy any of last week's issue to see what I wrote. I bought them all and have been eating them every day–for breakfast, lunch and dinner. 'Tis said newsprint makes good cattle feed. I don't agree.)

THE V-W STORY

We couldn't write "Finis" to the Vierhus V-W "engine removal" job perpetrated recently without the addendum.

Talking to a San Jose garage operator about the incident, he quipped "You know, that kid must have been good. Anyone who can remove an engine from a car on a dark night on a lonely hillside could make good money in a legitimate job. I've got some guys in our shop who can't do it right in broad daylight".

WELL TRAVELED

From Columbia, South America to Campbell, Calif. is quite a trip. Especially if your trip took you to New York, New England, Colorado and Los Angeles before you got to Campbell.

That's part of the story of Al Diaz, new owner of the Factory Air Conditioning and Glass Co. in the Kirkwood Auto Center.

Al left his native country in 1957 to seek his fortune in the United States. His first job was as a machinist in New York. Fascinated by the famous skiing resorts up-state and in New Hampshire and Vermont, he took up skiing in a serious way.

He soon became so proficient at it that he joined the professional ranks, becoming a ski instructor.

It wasn't long before he discovered that the ski season and his job left him just about nine months out of the year in the ranks of the unemployed. So he took up auto air-conditioning to fill out some of those idle spring and summer months. This turned out pretty good, except that in those cold climates, the summer air-conditioning season was even shorter than the winter ski season.

That meant California, where auto air-conditioning is virtually a year 'round job. Since opening his shop in the Kirkwood Auto Center a couple months ago, Al Diaz has finally found himself a year 'round job–and he likes it!

GUEST SERMON—James Havens of Palo Alto, area minister for American Baptist Churches of the West, will be guest speaker at First United Methodist Church, 1675 Winchester Blvd., on Sunday, Feb. 14 at services at 9 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. Havens, a native Californian, attended the Baptist World Congress in Tokyo last year and has been active in Church World Service projects. The services are open to the public.

Birthplace of California wine industry lies close to Sonoma

Just a short distance from the center of Sonoma's historic plaza lies the Buena Vista Rancho and the oldest stone wine cellars in California. For it was here that Colonel Agoston Haraszthy, a Hungarian nobleman, planted the cuttings he brought from Europe thus bringing some of the Old World's best wine grapes to California.

Haraszthy, recognized now as the father of California Vitaculture, started the vineyard on acreage he purchased from General Mariano Vallejo, and it was in honor of the Mexican officer that he gave the vineyard a Spanish name—Buena Vista, meaning beautiful view.

Two massive stone buildings, covered with ivy and nestled against a hillside, greet the visitor as he pulls into the parking lot at the end of Old Winery Road just outside historic Sonoma, reports the California State Automobile Association.

Tunnels lead off into the limestone hill where the wines are stored at a constant cool temperature. In the Underground Cellar in the main aging building where you can sip the wines, huge oak and redwood casks line either side of the walls.

Over the main entrance to the cellars hangs the Haraszthy crest with the date 1857 which proclaims the year the first wines were bottled. These cellars are now a California landmark.

Haraszthy soon realized that wines produced here would be equal to any in the world and set out for Europe to collect there the finest cuttings from the vineyards of Hungary, Spain, France, Germany and other countries. These cuttings were distributed to other California growers and became the beginning and source of today's premium wines of the Golden State.

All has not been good fortune at Buena Vista. A worldwide blight of phylloxera withered the vines and hardened the grapes in the 1870's and for 20 years the battle was fought before the insect scourge was wiped out. This was followed by the 1906 earthquake which collpased the tunnels of Buena Vista, crushing thousands of bottles of aging premium wines and forcing the winery to close.

Four decades of inactivity followed with weeds and chapparal taking over the once carefully tended vineyards and the old stone buildings remaining in ruins.

Buena Vista Vineyards was reborn in 1943 when it was sold at public auction to Frank Batholomew, who planted new vines and restored the cellars.

Wines produced at the Sonoma vineyard are Sparkling Sonoma Champagne, Vintage Port, Cabernet Sauvignon, Pinot Noir, Pinot Chardonnay, White Riesling Johannisberger, Grey Riesling and Grenache Rose among others.

Letters to the Editor

ANSWERS CRITIC

Dear Editor:

Last week (in your February 3 edition of the Press), Mrs. Dorothy Mitchell, the wife of a teacher on the faculty of the Monroe School criticized you for presenting the Citizens' Advisory Finance Committees' delayed rebuttal in its entirety which I presented to the Campbell Union School District's Board of Trustees on Jan. 14, 1971, in your editorial column.

Mrs. Mitchell also criticized the Campbell Press for failure to report alleged corrections of the report which she inferred were made. Mrs. Mitchell what was corrected? Mrs. Mitchell, you owe it to the public to state the corrections (if there were any) in detail and state who made these corrections (if any) in the next edition of the Press).

It is very convenient for those who desire to do so–to make their own interpretation of facts–then state the interpretation is false–and hence the facts must be inaccurate and false. Reasonable people understand that facts are indisputable. No one has proven any facts wrong in the Citizens' Advisory Finance Committees' report.

The Campbell Press has the right to use its editorial page as the Editor, George Vierhus sees fit. The Campbell Press has the responsibility to give those of differing views the forum to express their views. The Campbell Press and Mr. Vierhus have discharged their responsibility admirably.

Proof of this is the frequency of Mrs. Mitchell's letters appearing in the paper.

Sincerely,
Gordon Abbott
1010 S. Baywood Avenue.
San Jose.

TEACHERS BLAST UNION LEADER

Editor's Note:

The following letter was directed to the editor of the San Jose Mercury-News with a carbon copy to The Campbell Press. We think it covers the situation nicely...G.V.

Dear Sir:

It is difficult to estimate the amount of disgust and dismay that invaded us when we read this news account carried by the San Jose News, Tuesday, February 1, 1971, "Teachers fire barbs at Campbell Chamber".

The point of this letter is merely this: since we do not adhere to most of the statements made by Mr. Martin, we object strenuously to the statement which implies our concurrence. The group of teachers Mr. Martin is representing remains a bare minority, less than five percent.

At a time when our district could use every cohesive factor available, this reasoning seems to us to be incontinent on the part of a colleague.

Sincerely,
The undersigned members of the Moorpark School Faculty, Campbell Union School District.
John A. Bayer, Linda Bale, Isabelle Wright, David Gillies, Barbara Truk, Kathryn Kiely, Evan Rohnbough, Lorene Stevenson, Joseph Glynn, Renee Martyn, Kathleen Carsrud, Irma DeBenedetts, Alice DeBois, Marie MacDonald, Miss Blaine, Sharon Blanar, Lenore Clark.

NOW EFFICIENT

Dear Editor:

Mrs. Dorothy Mitchell, whose husband I understand is a teacher at Monroe School, stated in your paper February 3rd that, "Our schools have run efficiently and happily". She infers that this is the case because Mr. D'Avis is now Acting Superintendent.

Maybe Mrs. Mitchell can explain the vote to censure the Campbell Union School District's Board of Trustees taken by the Campbell Elementary Teachers Association during Mr. D'Avis' tenure of office.

Among the complaints listed in the censure are the failure of the Board of Trustees through their designee (Mr. D'Avis) to negotiate salaries, programs, and working conditions.

Maybe teachers are now so happy that they wish to withdraw their censure.

Sincerely,
H.R. 'Hank' Mestice

San Jose.

By Dawn Stoudinger

Hi!

It's been some time now since the column has been in the paper. Part of the reason is I've been sick and then, when I returned to school, I had quite a lot of work to make up.

But everything seems to be fine now, so I will try to get my job done when I'm supposed to, with a little luck.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Our second semester began Jan. 25, and with the new semester already going strong, Campbell has elected its spring student council members.

The president is Jerry Fournier, vice-president is Rick Angelo. Craig Fischer, John Rhoades, Barbara Williams, Terry Bullian and Mark Brusachetti are the councilmen. Our student manager is Mike Grindon and his assistants are Carter Fischer and Liz Taylor.

We would like to thank the fall semester officers for trying to do their best in bringing out ideas that the students and the council thought beneficial for all persons concerned. We wish the new Student Council the best of luck in their new positions and hope they will be able to accomplish what they started out to.

CLASS OFFICERS

The class officers are as follows: Steve Brown, president; Scott Sexton, vice-president and Carl Stokes, secretary for the Seniors.

Junior officers were: Paul Middleton, president; Valerie Chance, vice-president; Annette Chariamonte, secretary; and Jim Coglianese, treasurer.

Sophomore officers were: Paula Yeager, president; Stephanie Christie, vice-president; Annette Halgren, secretary; and Joan Evans, treasurer.

Freshmen officers were: Bill Young, president; Dan Guerra, vice-president; Karen Lobb, secretary and Shannon Dyer, treasurer.

I really think something should be said about the students who ran for offices, for there were so many, that it was great to see so many people interested in what was going on.

BASKETBALL

Basketball season has been on for a while now and I have a report from one of our school's newspaper. "The Campus Echo's" editors, Mike Hart from both Varsity and Frosh-Soph basketball.

Campbell's Varsity basketball team skidded by the Westmont Warriors for their 5th league win by a score of 72-71, Tuesday, Feb. 2.

The Bucs' big men were the underdogs for the first three quarters, ranging from 3 to 8 points behind the Warriors. The fourth quarter Campbell was still underneath until the last 4 minutes when they started to decrease the margin between the scores.

The last minute, the Bucs took the lead by one point and put up a good defense to hold that lead. Campbell held it and won the game 72 to 71.

Campbell's Frosh-Soph basketball team took its fourth straight one point loss against Westmont, Tuesday, Feb. 2.

In the first half, Campbell had to struggle to put themselves one point (23 to 22) over Westmont.

The Warriors came back in the second half to dominate and win the game 45 to 44.

The players of the Varsity Basketball team are Joe Alvarez, Dave Bush, Steve Davis, Craig Fischer, John Forbes, Steve Lobrovich, Sam LoBue, Paul Middleton, Doug Owen, Stew Smurthwaite, Dan Takacs, and Randy Wetterstrom, with Mike Bost, Mike LaCoss and Dave Duran as managers, coached by Coach Evans.

What do months and seniors have in common?

Nothing unless the person happens to be one of the 20 chosen by a group of counselors, faculty and students to be "senior of the month".

Dave Fuller and Theresa Kane started the calendar off with the month of September. October went to seniors Bob Purtee and Sue Mogg while Don Michniuk and Karen Young received the title for November.

Other selections include, Kevin Duggan and Marilyn Klinger, December; Terry Phillips and Diane Stafford, January; Bill Adamson and Marianne Molchan for the month of February; Angi Nola and Bill Jacobs, March; Jeff Gingrich and Roberta George, April; Corley Shatmeier and Mike Jesse, May.

Last but not least, ending the school year are seniors Patti Marshall and Dieter Geissler with the month of June.

Among the activities scheduled for the coming week is the National Merit Test for Juniors which will be given Tuesday at 8:30 a.m. in the library.

On Feb. 18 at 8 p.m. Branham will present it's annual Pops Concert, under the direction of James Dyer.

Admission to the show, which includes the concert band, choir, orchestra and glee club is 50 cents.

Highlighting the night will be Miss Foster's modern dance class performing to "Hawaii Five-O" and the "Mission Impossible Theme".

Featured musicians are soloists Bob Zink and Penny Tucker on the trumpet and clarinet, respectively.

Armbruster reviews "A Dissenting Opinion"

By Frank Armbruster

While most of Campbell sat home on it's collective duff last Wednesday eve, a most articulate and well-respected conservative newspaperman delivered an excellent discourse on the far-right political position.

James Kilpatrick, syndicated columnist, lecturer and slmost text-book conservative, spoke to a sparse but appreciative audience at the West Valley College auditorium.

Kilpatrick, who resides in Alexandria, Va., is touring California in a lecture series which includes five California colleges.

Three main topics were explored under the general heading of "A Dissenting Opinion":

–The War in Southeast Asia, is it an illegal, immoral war? "No," said Kilpatrick and supported his position with arguments supporting that opinion.

–In times of great change, political institutions should change greatly. "With this view, I dissent," declared the speaker and proceeded to give strong arguments against congressional committee reform, the electoral college revision, and changes in the filibuster rule.

–A new egalitarianism must obtain, one man, one vote is right and necessary. "Again, I must dissent," argued Kilpatrick. "It's a disservice to mankind to pretend that such an equality exists or can exist." Men are NOT equal, opportunities for men are NOT equal. This is a FACT and whether you agree with the desirability of such a situation or not, it does no one any good to deny facts.

Expanding on the war topic, he said that "Great powers, if they are to be great powers, must behave as great powers. To abandon the war in Vietnam would be a catastrophy. I grieve as deeply as anyone, the lives lost, but to do otherwise than we are doing would be unthinkable to me. Mr. Nixon is winding-down the war effectively and responsibly."

It is indeed unfortunate that a larger audience was not present. Whether you agree with the speaker or not, and many did not, it was an enlightening and stimulating evening.

A question and answer period followed the 45-minute prepared speech and the audience participated vigorously It was encouraging to me to see so many young people on hand.

Sitters sixth seminar starts

The sixth series of a ten-week Baby-Sitters Seminar offered by Campbell Fire Department kicked off Monday night at Campbell High School.

Sixty students signed up for the seminar which will include programs by doctors, nurses, home economics teachers, special reading teachers, police officers and college recreation majors.

The new class, who range in age from 11 to 17, were greeted by Fire Chief George Maxwell and Fire Marshall Gene Borden.

During the coming weeks, the class, under the direction of Jack Christian of the Campbell Fire Department, will have health programs, care for a six-month-old baby, do some simple cooking, and learn story-telling.

At the end of the course, they will be given certificates by city officials denoting their successful participation in the program.

Women voters begin two year transit study

Campbell High School holds meeting to consider changes

Possibility of changes at Campbell High School will be discussed at a general meeting scheduled for Wednesday, Feb. 10, in the high school cafeteria at 8 p.m.

Various proposals formulated by students and faculty will be presented to parents, and discussion will follow. Jerry Fournier, student-body president, stressed the importance of hearing from all parents concerning the future of any proposed changes at the High School.

"Students and the facultv have discussed some 15 ideas that we think will help to create a better learning environment at the school. We would like to move ahead with some of these ideas, but we need the thinking and support of our parents'" Jerry said.

Some of the proposals include lunch hour change, development of mini courses, improving study center use, development of a better tutorial program, implementing more student activities, and introducing an intramural sports program.

The meeting will be a "working session", Bob Peck, high school principal, stressed. "Many of the proposed changes seem to be valid ones," he commented.

"We want parents to come and listen to the proposals, and then discuss within small groups their reactions to the ideas. We want and need to know the feelings of the parents in regard to these proposals. In general, the students are enthusiastic about these ideas, as are the faculty. I urge all of our parents to come out to this meeting, and give us the benefit of their thinking."

Healy plans a new play

The San Jose Children's Musical Theater, sponsored by the Cabrini Community Theater, will have registration for their spring workshop production of the Emperor's New Clothes on Saturday, Feb. 13 from 1-4 p.m. at the St. Frances Cabrini Hall on Camden Ave., between Union and Bascom Ave. A registration fee of $5 is requested.

The Emperor's New Clothes, to be produced in May, is a musical based on the famous folk-tale, and singers, dancers, actors, and stage crew help are needed.

Young people from the age of 7-18 years are eligible to participate. The production will be directed by SJCMT resident director John P. Healy, Jr., with assistant directors Robbi Thornburg and Mark Healy. Musical director will be Patricia Healy with accompanist Chris Khoury. Choreographer is Derette March, who previously worked with the West Valley Light Opera.

At this time auditions will also be held for the ENTR'ACTES, considered the elite teenage musical comedy touring company of the Bay Area. The ENTR'ACTES are chosen from the members of the workshop for their ability to sing, dance, and their general enthusiasm and willingness to work and perform.

In the past year, the ENTR'ACTES have given over 100 shows, including several tours of the Palo Alto Veteran's Hospital, the Santa Clara County Fair, where they won the County's Senior Talent Contest, Old Town, the USO, and dozens of private clubs, parties and rest homes.

They are also asked to usher at many of the local professional and amateur performances around San Jose. They have the distinction of being the official tour group of the San Jose Children's Musical Theater.

College invites Yarbrough

Folksinger Glenn Yarbrough will perform in concert at West Valley College March 10 at 8 p.m.

A former member of the folksinging "Limeliters" trio, Yarbrough has developed a style all his own and is constantly exploring the world of music.

Poet-composer Rod McKuen has said of him, "I am convinced that there is more real music in Glenn's natural voice than in any composition I've ever created."

Yarbrough's unique style comes from his careful selection of the music which he performs. As he explains it, "I just try to do good songs. I don't care whether their pedigree is Broadway, folk or rock and roll. But the melody must be so good that it becomes a vehicle for the world; it must be good enough to stay in the background. The words must have the most importance."

Since the disbanding of the Limeliters, Yarbrough has recorded eight albums, including "Baby the Rain Must Fall", "The Lonely Things", "Come Share My Life", "Time to Move On", and "Glenn Yarbrough - Live at the hungry i".

Tickets for Yarbrough's one night concert must be purchased from the Office of Community Services, 44 E. Latimer Ave.

Five Point Plan to Thwart Car Thieves

Every 45 seconds an automobile is stolen somewhere in the United States.

According to the Federal Bureau of Investigation figures, 700,000 automobiles are stolen in this country annually, making car theft the greatest national crime against personal property. It is a crime, statistics show, which has increased 101 per cent since 1960.

Safety authorities suggest motorists take certain precautions to reduce auto theft risk. They advise drivers to:

(1) Lock your car doors and ignition every time you park. Professional thieves are adept at breaking into locked cars, but locked ignition and doors do deter "joy riders" looking for a car they can jump into and drive off. Also, lock doors when parking in front of your home or in your driveway. More than half of car thefts take place in residential areas.

(2) If possible, park in a well-trafficked, lighted area.

(3) In pay lots, take keys with you, if permitted.

(4) Remember not to leave packages or clothing in plain view in your parked car. Police say many thieves, bent first on car pilfering, also decided to steal the automobile.

(5) Don't keep registrations or other vital documents in the glove box.

The motorist unfortunate enough to have had his car stolen has a good chance of getting it back. FBI records show that nationally 86 per cent of stolen cars are recovered.

A sobering statistic, however, is this fact: On the average, a recovered stolen car suffered damage of $200 and in many instances cars were so badly damaged or "stripped" they had to be sold as junk.

Getting There Safely.

A PENNY FOR YOUR SAFETY

A tip to car owners — invest a Lincoln penny in your family's future. Why a Lincoln head penny? Insert a penny head first into the tread-grooves of each tire. If the head of "Honest Abe" can be seen, the tire has worn to a dangerous point and should be replaced.

HINTS, HELPS FOR YOUR CAR

by Eugene B. Milmoe

When the engine suddenly stalls out without a cough, sputter, or miss, it's pretty evident you have some sort of ignition problem.

If it happens just after you plowed through some high water, a cloth to wipe ignition parts dry is probably all you need. Or a wrench will be enough if a cable has loosened up at a battery terminal.

Check also for loose connections at the ballast resistor, the ignition switch, and the coil. Then pull the coil-to-distributor cable from both terminals, wipe both ends and sockets and carefully reinsert, firmly.

If these troubleshooting steps don't help, your problem could be a case of distributor, coil, or ignition switch failure—and a service call is your best bet.

R. M. asks: How often should ball joints be inspected?

Since they're so vital to safety, every time you have the service station change engine oil would not be too often.

AVOID EXTRA WEIGHT

Motorists who put extra weight in the trunk of their car for winter driving may do more harm than good. Extra weight disturbs the overall stability of a car and tends to lift the front end off the road surface.

WINTER HAZARDS GREATER

Roads present more hazards to tires during winter months than during warm-weather months. Foreign objects such as nails and glass are retained in the buildup of ice and snow. For this reason, check winter tires carefully and frequently for cuts or breaks. And be sure you have a spare tire in your car's trunk.

New In Kirkwood Auto Center

Shown above is Dean Nelson, new owner-operator of the Lightning Muffler Service in the Kirkwood Auto Center on San Tomas Aquino Road. His new, well-equipped shop is stocked and capable of handling any muffler problem on any make of car.

At the left is Al Diaz, operator of the new Factory Air Conditioning and Glass Co., another new Kirkwood Auto Center business to open recently.

Leak, Drip May Signal Trouble, Check Them

Have you ever noticed the dirty looking areas on concrete highways right between the paths thousands of wheels have traveled? Part of that dirt is grease and oil from other peoples' cars.

On your driveway or garage floor, the same kind of dirty marks may be from your own car, and this can be a housekeeping problem — particularly painful if you have just invested in yards of new concrete for the driveway or if someone manages to step in the grease, then track it all over your brand clean carpeting.

Taking a positive look at this messy business, a leak or drip is a danger signal. When cars are new, they don't drip grease or oil. At least, they shouldn't. But time, wear and vibrations take their toll on seals and gaskets.

Think of all the parts that could be leaking: the engine or the differential, the power steering, a brake cylinder, even a shock absorber.

A spot of grease or oil under your parked car can mean you soon will have no lubrication on expensive gears such as in the rear axle or transmission. A drip can indicate that raw gasoline is getting on your engine (right next to 15,000 volts of electricity). This kind of thing spreads car fires.

Your car sounds a four-alarm alert, in its own quiet way, when the drips are leaking brake fluid. This usually drips onto the inner surface of a tire; so you may not see it unless you happen to climb underneath your car to look. But your service station man can spot it when he has your car on the lift for service, which is a good reason, among others, for getting the car up on the lift from time to time.

If you see greasy or oily spots on the floor of your garage, on your driveway or your wall-to-wall carpeting, check into things. Put some newspaper or large pieces of an old sheet you were going to tear up for rags anyway under your car's regular parking place. See how much grease or oil accumulates overnight and approximately where the leak seems to be coming from.

Next day, take your car and the evidence to your service man and ask him to fix things up. This can save your car, your money and even a life.

HINTS ON CAR CARE

From recent surveys come guidelines about automobile maintenance you may find useful. According to one, made by a federal government bureau, the typical car owner averages about $13 a month for maintenance. But another—of diagnostic center and state vehicle inspection records—indicates that most cars are operating below optimum performance; many have safety defects, and to keep a car in safe, high performance condition takes an average expenditure of $19 a month over a five-year period.

Chances are you now have a check every month or 1,000 miles (at no charge) for radiator, transmission oil, engine oil and battery level; fan and power steering belts, tire pressure.

BELTS SAVE LIVES

Seat belts do save lives. Studies of actual auto crashes by investigators at Cornell University prove it. The National Safety Council estimates that at least 8,000 to 10,000 lives a year would be saved if every motorist used a seat belt every time he got into a car.

Local builder's cars race Sunday

George Benson of GMB Mfg., Campbell's only midget race car builder, located on Westchester Drive, expects to see ten of his creations running in next Sunday's United States Auto Club 100 lap Midget Race at the San Jose Speedway.

Burt Foland, who won the last race here in November in the Oakland-based Jack London Offy, has switched to the San Jose-based Ollie Johnson Offy. Only a second and a half separated the two cars in the last event. Both cars were built by Benson, as were two others in the first ten to get the checkered flag.

The J. C. Agajanian-promoted event will get under way Sunday at 2:30 p.m. with qualifying starting at 1 p.m.

II, 10 games to 2. Dave Ingols and Eric Branthwaite shot high scores of 140. Eric also shot a 102 and a ton (100). Other tons were shot by Lancashire Lad darters John Forbes and Des Banks.

Lancashire Lad II played to a 6-6 split with the Black Knight. High score in that event was a 140 by the Lad's Bob Mayer.

The third place Banbury Clock I beat the last place Gaslighter Theater II, 10 games to 2. Carl Aydelotte and George Hoffman shot the two Gaslighter wins.

Aydelotte threw a 100 to start his match with Rick Miller. Miller countered to throw a high score of 101. Later in the evening Miller shot a Shanghai 120 (triple 20, double 20 and a single 20).

Dave Pena of the Clock shot a 104 away.

LADIES SINGLES

The Chabot Leagues Pat Orechwa won the first NCDA Ladies Singles Championship. Pat plays for the Steppenwolf in Berkeley. Runner-up was Pat Jansson of the Swinging Door in San Mateo.

The semi-finalists were the South Bay's Bobbi Lindsay of the Lancashire Lad and Ann Caufield, a member of the all-girl Lord Nelson I of the Golden Gate League.

The girls didn't hesitate to shoot some hot games. Pat Orechwa had a 13-dart game and shot a 61 out. Ann Caufield shot a 90 out (Triple 17,

The last matches of the winter season will be played tonight with Gaslighter Theater I ahead of Lancashire Lad I by eight games. These two teams play each other at the Theater, 400 E. Campbell Ave. The Lad team has a very slight mathematical chance. They would have to win ten of tonight's games to tie and win eleven of the twelve games to take the South Bay Championship.

Gaslighter I defeated the Scuttlebutt 9 to 3 in last weeks competition. Paul Schultz and Jack Mehtala were the only members of the Scuttlebutt team to win their matches. The third win was the five man team game.

Lancashire Lad I took their match against Banbury Clock a 19 and a double 10). Other high scores were Vickie Davis of the Lord Nelson III with a 128 and an 80 away and Pauline Hanley of the Royal Scot II with a 112 and a 105.

ALL-STAR GAME

Sunday is the big day when the Northern California All-Stars take on the Southern California All-Stars in Los Angeles. The South Bay league is represented by the Lancashire Lad's Don Rhodes and the Gaslighter's Jim Macredes.

The team and the Executive Council of the NCDA will fly out of San Jose Airport Friday night. A joint meeting of both Executive Councils will be held that same night to discuss the mutual problems of both associations.

We can only hope that they will bring the trophy back home with them.

GALLAGHER

Joe Gallagher's last appearance in West Valley College orange and blue last Saturday night sparked the Vikings to a rousing 74-59 victory over Solano.

But it looks as though the loss of the 6'4" ace center will be felt strongly in Camino Norte Conference action this week as WVC battles Canada Wednesday and Contra Costa Saturday.

The Vikings snuck past Canada's Colts the first time the two hoop clubs met this season but could find a little trouble Wednesday, when they meet at 8 p.m. on the Campbell High School floor.

And if the Vikes think they'll have trouble with Canada, wait until they face that ol' CNC troublemaker Contra Costa. The Comets and WVC are currently tied for the number two spot in the conference.

CCC has lost only three games in the history of the Camino Norte and two have come this season. The other loss was last season at the hands of West Valley.

NEW TEAM

Gallagher's shoes will be hard to fill but top forwards Butch Romano, 6'3", Jim Smrekar, 6'4½", and Dan Dolen, 6'3½", plan to make a fight of it.

Council hears about bikeways

Because plans for the bikeway routes are still in the tentative stage, the City Council on Monday took no action on the presentation of Ted Thorsen, a member of the Parks and Recreation Commission, and Bruce M. Ball, president of the Santa Clara Valley Bicycle Associaton.

The bike trail program, which ties in a city loop system with the countywide plan, has been approved in concept by the Parks and Recreation Commission. Thorsen, with the aid of a map on which proposed routes had been drawn, described the overall concept of the program.

Ball emphasized that bikes are now not only being used for recreation but also for basic transportation purposes. More new bikes were sold last year than cars, he added.

Thorsen explained that the proposed route would enter Campbell on the north at the park by the freeway and come down North Central, onto Latimer to Milton and then over the Rincon overpass and then on to the San Tomas area.

He added that the definite routes had not yet been selected and he would keep the Council informed on all future developments.

Schwinn
. . . for the young in heart!

When you buy a new bike at an "ordinary," non-bicycle store you often have to take the carton home and assemble the bike yourself. Frequently, an additional charge is made for the assembly service. When you buy a bike from us there is nothing ordinary about it. First, it is a Schwinn — one of the world's finest bicycles. Second, we are a factory franchised Schwinn dealer — so you can rely on our service and quality. Third — every bike we sell is assembled, adjusted, and ready-to-ride.

HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND WELFARE
SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION

People who are 65 and haven't already signed up for Medicare medical insurance may enroll now through March 31 at any social security office, according to Peter J. D'Anna, social security district manager in San Jose.

Medicare medical insurance helps pay doctor bills. A person may first enroll in the program within the 3 months before or the 3 months after the month he reaches 65.

He may also sign up in the general enrollment period—January, February, and March—within 3 years following the end of his first sign-up period.

"Almost anyone 65 or over in the United States is eligible for Medicare medical insurance," D'Anna said. "More than 9 out of 10 in that age group are enrolled."

Medical insurance is funded by individual voluntary monthly premiums that are matched by the Federal Government.

If a person enrolls after his first, or 65th birthday, sign-up period, he pays a premium that is 10 percent higher for each full year that elapses after that first sign-up period, D'Anna said.

"If you enroll and then cancel your Medicare medical insurance, you're eligible to re-enroll only once," he said. "You may sign up again during a general enrollment period—January, February, or March of each year that begins within 3 years after your protection stopped."

Medicare medical insurance supplements Medicare hospital insurance, which is funded by regular social security contributions and helps pay hospital bills for eligible people 65 or over.

Medicare is administered by the Social Security Administration.
